As usual, you can easily find it in the Shopify app store. And this app is all-in-all a marketing product that allows you to send follow-ups, animated cards, newsletters, and receipts. I usually use this app for my Shopify receipts. Go to settings, and switch to the “receipts” tab, there is a dashboard that allows you to edit your receipts. It doesn’t only send the customer a receipt, but also allows you to give a special (quickly expiring) coupon.

You can put the logo on the top, then there is a message that automatically includes the customer’s name and states “Hey David, thanks for you purchase today! We will prepare your package and ship it as soon as possible. The average delivery time this month is 12-20 business days. When available you will be able to track your order here”. So, you will allow to see the time of the delivery and there is also a link so the customer can see your look-up process.

This app will save you a lot of headaches with customer support, because most of the e-mails and phone calls are people asking “Where are my orders?”, “I ordered my dog dress last week and still did not receive it, why? Instead of these headaches you can just automatically send them a receipt with delivery time and a link to track their order. The best part is that it allows you to give a time sensitive discount coupon.

In this case, “Hey David, as a way of saying thanks for shopping with us today, here is a coupon for Amazing 15% Discount odd your next in the next two weeks” It generates a coupon automatically with a shopping button and expiration date underneath. Under that message, you can see a standard receipt. Under the receipt there is a box that says “You might also like ...” and under there are some suggestions of what the customer might like.

There is also an option to include a social media share notice at the bottom of the email. Really amazing guys, you are really going to need this one. Take a look of a real-life example from the app. Also this app used to be called Receiptiful in the past... At the top it says "Hey Afton...", then shows the amazing coupon with an expiration date. Then it shows what the customer actually purchased underneath the coupon. Under that there is a box that says "You may like this..." with suggestions under the receipt.

This app is really helpful, and I highly recommend that you use it to boost your sales. Thank you for watching and I will see you in the next video.
