Hi, guys. Welcome to the video series, From China With Love, which we are doing for Sells Like Hot Cakes program. Today, we are going to show you real life insights by visiting a real Chinese factory. It's one of the factories producing metal cans and metal packaging for different chocolate brands and other products. I'm sure it's very interesting for you to see how a real factory works, how it looks, so you can get a real-life experience on how a real Chinese factory works. We're doing this for you, and I hope you really find this helpful because a lot of factories don't like people to just come and film it, so we had to really convince them to let us film it for you and to publish it.

Check out a preview of today's lesson:

- Get to learn about the TYPE of workers hired in FACTORIES
- Learn about the type of WORK these FACTORY workers do
- You'll LEARN about how they PACKAGE their products PROFESSIONALLY
- You'll also LEARN about the PRODUCTION stages they use
- Get a basic IDEA of how your PRODUCT gets CREATED behind the scenes

As you can see, these guys are not doing Apple, or some sort of complex electronics; they are just ordinary hard working workers creating great-looking and professional quality metal boxes for chocolates. Take a look, this is a really fast production and it has so many stages. Each guy knows exactly what to do so it's really well-organized and optimized. You can see it's clean; they're working with real materials, but everything is clean and they're using professional workers, they're not using any sort of child labor, they're not doing some sort of sweatshop.

They're working with adults and grown-ups and everything is professionally organized. You see now the final stage of the creation and they are going to package the ready product. They're doing the quality inspection, and then they're doing the packaging; each unit, they're putting in a plastic bag to make sure it's not smashed and it doesn't get any scratches. Everything looks nice, glossy and clean, because they are going to work with food so they have high standards of cleanliness.

Then they are going to package everything into the big carton boxes. This stuff will be stored in a factory warehouse and then you, as the white labeling guy, will be giving them the stickers or the labels that they're going to put on the products and on the boxes to get them ready to ship tabs on warehouses. I hope, guys, you found this video helpful as it gives you real-life examples of how real Chinese factories work so you can now understand better what you're dealing with and how everything is organized.

You can see this is not a big factory; they probably have under 50 people and many of them you don't see because they are sales guys, managers, and all other organizers that don't actually sit and create the product; they are in the offices. They have, of course, more people than you saw. I think this gives you a great idea of how your product is created and what's going on behind the scenes. I really appreciate if you like and share our video and help us spread the good word about the Sells Like Hot Cakes video course.

I hope we'll see you inside our member's area where we teach you how to build your profitable Amazon business by white labeling your product from China and selling on Amazon FBA. See you in the next videos, bye.
